The Petaluma trestle today - in contrast with the actively used pedestrian bridge over the river.

The Petaluma River Festivals held on the trestle between 1986 and 1997 drew over two hundred thousand visitors to downtown Petaluma - before the trestle was closed to public access.

Exhibit 2: Trestle Photographs

An artist's computer enhanced vision of the restored trestle on the Petaluma River.

Exhibit 2: Trestle Photographs

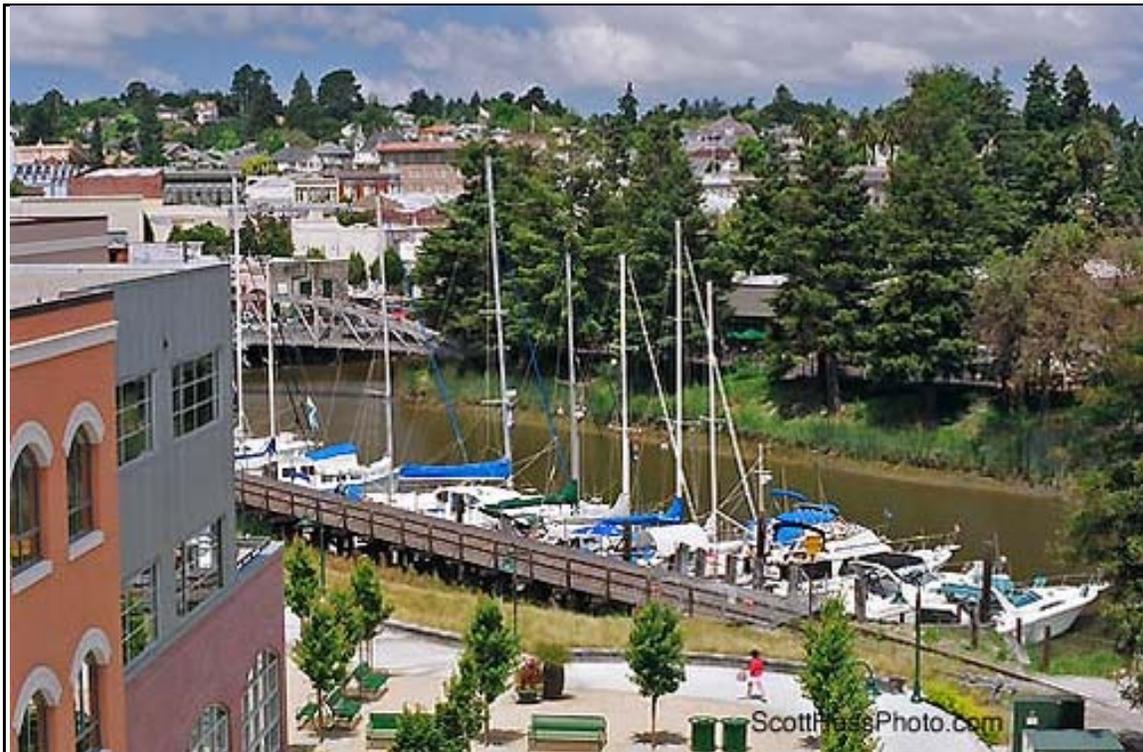

A future envisioned with both the historic trolley and trestle in operation on the Petaluma River.

The proposed 3 mile Petaluma Trolley Route would utilize the restored Petaluma trestle.

The Petaluma floating dock, located adjacent to the trestle, is actively used by the public.
