Dear Chairman Bosco and Members of the Board,

Aldo Jordan
Treasurer

Solano Land Trust celebrated the opening of Patwino Worrta Kodoi Dihi Open Space Park last week with a formal ribbon cutting for the park and a new section of the Bay Area Ridge Trail. We were glad to have Amy Hutzal and other Conservancy staff participate in the event.

This land was purchased by speculative developers more than 45 years ago, and protected over two years, 2011 and 2012, with critical leadership from the Coastal Conservancy. In fact, Conservancy staff have been some of our most important partners throughout this process, from our very first tours to the more recent visits where we talked through the atmospheric rivers that tried to wash away the newly built entrance road and parking lot. Your grants for acquisition, the management plan and to support the staging area have been invaluable. In fact, the Coastal Conservancy's willingness to step forward as the first significant acquisition funder gave other funders the confidence to join us.

As we celebrate this incredible milestone, I wanted to take a moment and thank you, the Coastal Conservancy Board, for your tireless efforts to support and fund wonderful conservation projects along the California coast and the bay. I also want you to know how grateful we are for the partnership of your talented, committed, and problem-solving staff. I hope you can come out and see the project for yourself.

Sincerely,

Nicole Braddock
Solano Land Trust Executive Director
