

State Coastal Conservancy Jurisdiction

Population and area for 9 Bay Area Counties and State of California is from the 2010 Census [American Factfinder].

Population for the coastal draining watersheds was determined by counting the population within Census Blocks (2010 Census) that have a portion of their area within the watersheds. There is some error within this method, but the "Block" is the smallest unit of area that the U.S. Census provides population for and therefore the most accurate method available to the public. Area for the watersheds was calculated by using ArcGIS.
